

i am an xm satellite radio subscriber and user of their instant traffic and weather programming service. i can't see why congress or the FCC would seek to limit my access to such services considering that maintaining open access to services and programs that benefit the general public (particularly those the consumer pays for directly via a private radio service) is essential to the FCC's mission.